

WE NOMINATE

William LeGrand Tucker, genial, enthusiastic pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, whose rare capacity for making and holding friends is fast becoming a Princeton tradition. The descendant of an ancient Virginia family, that traces its origins back to the mid-1600's, the 57-year old Tucker in the space of seven short years here has proved a worthy successor to the Rev. Drs. John T. Duffield, Lewis W. Mudge and David B. Tompkins in leading the Second Church to the threshold of its second century of distinguished service to its congregation and to all of Princeton.

The only original member of the six-year old New Jersey State Board of Mediation, which is charged with maintaining a semblance of equilibrium in intra-state labor relations, Tucker thrives upon variety of activity. During the past few years, while carrying his normal parish responsibilities and spending some 12 hours a week preparing his Sunday sermon, he has given freely of himself as a panel chairman for the War Labor Board, as president of the Lions Club and as a driving force in other service groups.

After graduating from Randolph-Macon College with honors in his studies, in the field of publications and in athletics, Tucker in 1916 simultaneously completed his training for the ministry here at the Seminary and took an M.A. in history from Princeton University, where he remembers "arguing almost constantly" with Dr. William Starr Meyers about the accomplishments of the late William Jennings Bryan and the achievements of the Democratic Party. A year of study in Japan was followed by World War I duty in an officers' training unit commanded by Lt. Colonel Dwight David Eisenhower.

For the next three years he learned at first hand of the plight of war-racked peoples about whom he now speaks so understandingly, for, from 1919 until 1921, he struggled with the Y.M.C.A. in Central and Eastern Siberia, lightening the burdens of homeless prisoners of war. From the steppes of Siberia the trail led to Jersey City, to Newark and finally to Princeton. It was in Newark that his services to civic organizations and to the Presbyterian Church led to his recognition as one of the State's outstanding labor diplomats and to the receipt of an honorary degree (1937) from Westminster College, Missouri.

For transplanting to Princeton a substantial measure of the graciousness that is the heritage of the Old Dominion and thereby strengthening this municipality's position as the most northern of southern communities; for tempering religious matters with sturdy Christian common sense that is readily adaptable to the needs of a changing world; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

ONCE AGAIN, because the Summer reason has been slow in arriving and sales of these items have been below normal, we make the following offer:

Sun Glasses and Sun Lotion

We have just received new, Holly-wood sun glasses that are particularly useful and attractive. Priced from $1 to $3.50.

We also offer LIQUID SUNSHINE by Madame Rubenstein at $1 per bottle. This modern sun lotion filters out the infra-red rays that burn the skin. The moment it is applied, it allows you to absorb the warm sunshine without acquiring the least painful redness and burn often accompanying sun-bathing. COME IN TODAY!

Retrospect in Brief. Press correspondents here with President Truman's party having filed nearly 40,000 words via Western Union, mailed and telephoned countless other stories to record Bicentennial Day in Princeton, TOWN TOPICS offers the following incidental intelligence which may elsewhere have escaped notice:

A 23-man crew was required to telecast the program from Nassau Hall, first ever to go out from Princeton. The devious route the pictures followed: Princeton to Mount Rose (site of booster towers) to Philadelphia to New York to Schenectady, thence to sets of receivers.

President Truman's "number two car," same one he used in Mexico and Canada, was brought from Washington for the occasion. It isn't bullet proof, but you can't open the hood without a key.

Three members of the chief executive's family had been expected, eight showed up. In addition to the President, his wife and daughter, two cousins and their three children were Princetonians for the day.

Among the 36 recipients of honorary degrees were two from this community: Dr. Wendell M. Stanley of R.I.M.R., John Von Neumann of the Institute for Advanced Study. The degree which Truman received was his tenth in two years. He is not a college graduate.

Forty-one photographers were popping flash bulbs, with Life following Bernard

DON'T WAIT TOO LONG

● Don't wait until you are half dead before you call your family physician. His chances are better, and yours, if you call him at the first sign of illness. It will be less expensive for you, too. Often a word of advice, a sensible precaution, will prevent serious complications. Even though you may feel perfectly well, it is good practice to see your physician regularly, at least twice a year. If he finds it necessary to prescribe medical treatment, bring your prescriptions to us. We will fill them promptly and accurately, just as the doctor orders.

Compacts and Smoker Sets. As soon as we entered The Wine and Game Shop, 6 Nassau Street, we were faced with a choice which we couldn't make, so didn't. Result: the double heading on this paragraph.

The compacts are about as swish as anything we have seen in some time. Rectangular-shaped in a happy-medium sort of size, they have gold backs and insides. The tan leather or white parchment tops make perfect backgrounds for hand-painted dogs, horses, fish or gamebirds. The colors are accurate and lovely; any one of them would knock your eye out if you have any feeling for animals or sports. Even if you haven't, they are unusually good-looking compacts. What's more, you can order one painted with the animal of your choice. We can think of no more satisfactory gift for a lady dog owner than that.

The smoker's sets are, of course, also sporting, and good for either sportsman or woman. Entirely handwrought in a walnut-toned leather with 22 karat gold tooled border lines, they consist of three usable pieces: oval, "scrap-basket" cigarette holders, matchbox covers and glass lined ashtrays. They come with either horse's head or mallards in flight, again handpainted and attractive. Here is a wedding present to please the groom right along with the bride.

Masculine Grooming Aids. We're off on our once-a-year attempt to increase the use of toiletries (we hate the word, but there seems to be no other) by men. We fail to see why smelling nice (not sweet) should be looked upon as sissy by many men; or if they don't condemn it as completely as that, most of them don't bother to do anything about it. This is where the Courtley line of male accessories, now carried by Wilcox's Drug Store at 20 Nassau Street, comes in—or should.

The name Courtley is old and well-established in the trade, but new in Princeton. Everything a man could require is there, either in sets or individual packages. After-shave lotion, liquid deodorant, after-shave powder, talcum, shaving bowl, extra-size soap, Baruch around in hopes that he would repeat a favorite habit of pulling a sandwich out of his pocket. When a camera man for a big New York newspaper jumped up on the speakers' platform, too close to the President, Secret Service men didn't wait to argue with him. They just knocked him off.

The rostrum President Truman used was shipped from Washington particularly for the occasion, after inspection by the ubiquitous S.S. operators. Just what hidden danger a rostrum can hold for a speaker whose life requires unusual protection, we leave to the more facile imagination of whodunit fans.

Living War Memorial. The ever-vexing two-fold problem of a suitable memorial to World War II dead and improved recreational facilities got a new twist this week: the Princeton Veterans Memorial Committee suggested that steps be taken to build a new elementary school and that the present building be used as a combination Borough Hall and recreation center. In the belief that the proposal is worthy of thorough investigation, Mayor Morgan will call a meeting this Summer of the Veterans Committee, the governing bodies of the two municipalities, the two boards of education.

Miscellany. July will see three new members on the Borough police force: Robert McAvenia of Murray Place; Arthur Gallant of John St.; Robert Anderson of Ewing Street. Because of inability to meet weight requirements, Thomas Moore, a probationary patrolman for the past 15 months, is retiring from the force.

News of the Theatres

The Playhouse

The Imperfect Lady (Fri., Sat.) portrays Theresa Wright as the fiance of Ray Milland, who is cast as a British Lord seeking election to Parliament. Her past, in the shape of a hot-blooded Spanish pianist, complicates his campaign and their romance. None too choice entertainment.

Dishonored Lady (Sun. thru Wed.) stars Hedy Lamarr as a magazine editor who encounters mental problems, seeks a change by moving to a Greenwich village garret, promptly becomes embroiled in murder. Exciting here and there but generally somewhat weak.

High Barbaree (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) is Van Johnson's latest, a romantic story about a young business executive who isn't sure just how far he should carry his ideals. June Allyson's fine performance helps make it an acceptable piece of entertainment, occasionally mawkish, more often moving.

Garden Theatre

That's My Man (Fri., Sat.) mixes comedy and adventure, both routine in nature. With Don Ameche, who still rubs a lot of people the wrong way.

The Sea Wolf (Mon., Tues., Wed.) is the Jack London adventure story of melodrama afloat. A good reissue, with Edward G. Robinson, Barry Fitzgerald.

Undercover Maisie (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) revives this series which casts Ann Sothorn in the title role of a dizzy blonde. Comedy that is generally too light to sit well.

The McCarter

Dream Girl (Mon. thru Sat.) will open a ten-week summer season at the McCarter. This is one of Elmer Rice's plays, starring Lucille Ball. With ticket prices ranging from $1.20 (last rows in the balcony) to a $3 top in the orchestra, a lot of Princetonians may never find out whether the play is any good or not.

and shaving cream, lather or brushless. The last-named, incidentally, is a particularly good buy—a 5 ounce tube is only 50 cents.

All of the products have a faint smell (we're even avoiding the word "fragrance"), but it is not sweet and not feminine. The matching sets come in luxurious containers, available in six colors. A sideline for the female or small fry is put out in the form of boxed individual bubble baths in five different fragrances. This set is $1 and gives you at least 25 bubbly baths—which is a good reason for preferring it to the bottled kind which children usually empty into the tub all at once.
